

OWANA OWL

Watching over Old West Austin since 1983

Letter From the Chair

My term as the 2013 Chair comes to an end with the election of new Steering Committee members at the upcoming December general membership meeting. We continue to face important issues that have the potential to impact our community. Each of us has a role to play in preserving, maintaining, and enhancing the unique character, quality, and diversity of our community.

We all need to be part of the process. As individuals (and volunteers with other important personal commitments), we may not be able to be involved in all the issues but there are plenty to go around. You might find an issue that has the potential to strike pretty close to home, both literally and figuratively. You need to be aware of these issues so that you can get involved.

No special skills or knowledge is required. All it takes is the desire to not only protect quality of life for yourself and your family but also for your neighbors. You will be surprised how successful your journey will become if you take that first step.

Please consider attending the December meeting. Not only is it an opportunity to find out what's going on in the neighborhood but it is opportunity to connect with your neighbors.

We don't necessarily have issues of "lions, tigers, and bears" in the neighborhood but we do have "upzoning, compatible development, traffic, parking, MoPac managed lanes, historic preservation, affordable housing, parks, and community events". What is your issue? Help us, help you, help us! Please remember that "someone else is no one."

See you at Mathews on the 3rd!

— Paul Seals, Chair

Second Annual Clarksville Caroling Event

We are happy to announce that OWANA and the CCDC will again co-sponsor a caroling event for the neighborhood on December 15, 2013, a Sunday evening. The event will take place from 6pm to 8pm at the historic Haskell House, 1703 Waterston Ave. By the date of the caroling event, there will be a new State of Texas Historical marker in front of the Haskell House, recognizing the home's significance to the history of Clarksville, Austin, and Texas.

For those of you who want to be part of the caroling, please gather at the Haskell House by 6 to warm up your voice and have some refreshments. Then, all of the carolers will walk to a few stops in the neighborhood to sing songs. Frances Barton will lead the way and provide songbooks. We recommend that you bring a flashlight.

If you don't want to sing carols, you are welcome to hang out at the Haskell House, talk with your neighbors, and enjoy the refreshments, which will be provided by Zocalo and by Christin and Josh Rowan. Wine and hot chocolate will also be available. And, Santa will be on hand at the beginning of the event to visit with the kids.

This was a really special event last year, so we hope to see you at the Haskell House this year!

Two Old West Austin Homes on 2013 AIA Tour

Each year the Austin chapter of The American Institute of Architects hosts a public tour of homes in the Austin area. The 2013 homes bring “elegant design solutions in an increasingly complex city”. This year only eleven homes were chosen. And two of those homes were in our neighborhood! Both homes are remodels, preserving important historic elements of the original houses while adding modern updates. We asked both owners to tell us a little about their projects.

Kathleen and Nick Deaver’s Modern Revival on Highland Avenue

This 1919 craftsman bungalow is located in a Historic District, a short walk from Austin’s resurgent downtown. It was given new life as we created a more compact lifestyle in line with Austin’s goals for Smart Growth. Completed in 2013, the 1,100sf structure was expanded to 3,100sf to create a home, work studio and rental apartment. Preserving the original structure and maintaining the fabric of the neighborhood was paramount to the design. The new modern concrete and glass studio and apartment are discreetly placed beneath the antique house. A tough, horizontal and minimal architecture of cantilevered steel arbors, board formed concrete walls and expansive panes of glass contrast with the more refined vertical proportions and details of the traditional wooden home. Other modern interventions include an indoor bathing-porch, a bright white attic guestroom and an elevated covered porch shaded by aluminum “walls” modulated by the wind.

Architect : Nick Deaver Architect

Kathleen and Nick Deaver's Highland Home

Kim and Ryan Battle’s Historic Palma Plaza Home

It sat on the corner of Palma Plaza and Woodlawn: a stately looking little white 1900 sf house in terrible need of a thoughtful eye and hand to re-imagine. I was ready for a project, perhaps not as intensive as it turned out to be but there was something about the house that made us believe something great could come from breathing new life back into it. There were basic things we knew we wanted, or better said, needed to do as we worked with our architect, Hugh Jefferson Randolph and builder, Risinger Homes to remake the 3000sf home. We knew that many of the materials used to construct the original house in 1935 were unattainable in 2012, such as 15-20 foot runs of white oak flooring, preserved and abundant shiplap interior wood, incredible long leaf pine exterior siding and a hidden yet impeccably laid chimney. There was something special about the craftsmanship of the home that made me look deeper into its origin.

Kim and Ryan Battle's Palma Plaza Residence

Here I found the story of Hilda Urbantke, the daughter of Gustavo Urbantke whose family immigrated to central Texas from Bremen, Germany in the mid-1800s. Hilda was a UT Architecture graduate and part of the team that designed the iconic Stephen F. Austin Hotel. Hilda later designed 1700 Palma Plaza, the only known residential home that she solely designed. She later worked as a chief draftsman for the prestigious Worth Cottingham consultancy who designed many state and University of Texas structures. We thought we were restoring a house to make it our home but never imagined we'd meet a woman who was a leader for other women then and now.

Architect: Hugh Jefferson Randolph

West Austin Park Conceptual Master Plan

The Conceptual Master Plan for West Austin Park has been accepted by Parks and Recreation Department (PARD) staff and the plan will be presented to the Parks Board Land, Facilities and Programs Committee on December 2. Pending approval at the Committee level, the Plan will be presented to the

Storm Damage to West Austin Park Historic Walls

A large section of the walls in the east side of the Park fell during the rain on October 12/13. Parks Committee members have met on site multiple times with PARD staff, Public Works Staff, a private stone masonry company and an engineering firm.

PARD is working to coordinate funding for the repair of the walls and to incorporate the West Austin Park Master Plan which add additional features to the northeast section of the park. Proposed work might include: 1) repair of damage wall 2) additional terracing next to the swing set (area of proposed basketball court) 3) construction of amphitheater walls facing the ball fields 4) moving the basketball court to make way for the new central shade/seating area and 5) removal of wall section and regrading of the hillside which will become the nature play area. We anticipate having updates this month and might be able to present plans to the General Membership meeting in December.

Reclaimed Water Irrigation Project — West Austin Park

Our neighbor Andrew McCalla, of Meridian Solar, generously donated and installed a solar pump and panel to the Reclaimed Water Irrigation Project. Thank you Andrew and Meridian Solar!

Now that the panel and pump are operative and our irrigation contractor has completed the irrigation system, we are delivering water to the existing trees on an optimal schedule to produce healthy trees that will thrive in the park for years to come.

To complete the Reclaimed Water Irrigation Project we will install a second irrigation zone and plant approximately 5-7 large native trees in the northeast

Mary Baylor/Clarksville Park

New picnic tables were delivered to the park in October. The burned out bulb in the overhead light was replaced and the light will be adjusted slightly to the north to provide better lighting on the soccer field for evening activities.

Membership Report

OWANA has 310 residential and business memberships, the most in several years and an 11% increase for the year. But this represents just a fraction of the homes and businesses in Old West Austin.

Could you help us pass the word that OWANA represents everyone in our neighborhood? It will take only a few minutes for you to email this link www.owana.org/join to a couple of your neighbors and businesses.

Our memberships are very reasonable, starting at only $20/yr for residents and $50/yr for businesses. Residential members within the OWANA boundaries are entitled to vote at our General Membership Meeting and business members get to advertise in the quarterly newsletter, The OWANA Owl.

So let your neighbors and businesses know why they should become a part of this great neighborhood association.

Thank you so much for helping OWANA!

CCDC Selling Holiday Cards

The CCDC is selling Clarksville-related holiday cards again this year. The charming image on the front of the card is of an old black woman standing in the snow and wearing a hat and an apron over her coat. Her name was Aunt Lou; we do not know her last name or anything about her. We believe the image dates back to the 1920s.

The cards come in sets of 10 and cost $20.00. Sale proceeds will be used to help pay for repairs and maintenance of the historic Haskell House located at 1703 Waterston Avenue.

CCDC is also selling sets of notecards with a variety of images from old Clarksville. The cards come in sets of ten and sell for $20.00.

Please contact Mary Reed at mrpraustin@gmail.com if you are interested in purchasing a set.
